Subject: American citizens powerless

It is all too sad to see that American citizens are every bit as powerless as we Mexican citizens are. Microsoft have been found guilty of abusing its monopoly and there has been no punitive measure at all! They are even striking a deal that will make them virtually invulnerable to any sort of control by the DOJ in the future.

I do not think that people in the DOJ have no understanding whatsoever of what they are doing, I would rather be apt to think that there is as much corruption in the USA as in any third world country.

You are definitely contributing in a significant way to the destruction and not to the building of a great country by putting Microsoft above the law and the best interest of the people.

Yours truly,
